

“You’re never too small to make a difference”

Greta Thunberg

We need adults in governments and businesses to make big decisions to tackle climate change on a global scale but there are plenty of ways children can make a difference at home and at school.

What actions will you take to tackle climate change?

Write or draw your actions in the carrot

Many of our daily habits contribute to climate change and we all need to change the way we live to stop harming the planet. A lot of these changes can improve our lives for the better too – such as cleaner air, more exercise, healthier diets and more green spaces.
